MR DOUGLAS FOO
PRESIDENT

Singapore Manufacturing Federation

This year, SMF celebrated our 84th anniversary. It has been both a tumultuous and exciting journey, as our history parallels the growth and transformation of Singapore and its manufacturing sector for the past 84 years.

In spite of the state of flux of our economy, SMF remains committed to our mission and will remain relevant in serving the needs of our members with our suite of offerings through our Industry Groups and Centres of Excellence. Our comprehensive and holistic solutions and services aim at enhancing our members' competitiveness both locally and globally in the manufacturing sector.

Now in its 52nd edition, I am pleased that the TRADELINK remains a well sought after trade directory allowing our members to showcase their products and services to local and international markets, while leveraging on the Singapore brand of trust and quality. And our online portal has also increased in engagement since its launched in 2014.

TRADELINK provides a listing of diverse range of products and services offered by our members and the listing is categorized under various product ranges for easy reference. With offline and online readers encompassing local/overseas companies sourcing specifically for the best manufacturing companies in Singapore, the directory is an essential vehicle to secure new business opportunities.

On this note, I would like to thank our strategic partners who have supported and contributed towards the success of this annual publication. I wish our members success as well in linking up and collaborating with other business partners through TRADELINK!
