

SMF CENTRE FOR CORPORATE LEARNING (SMF-CCL)

SMF Centre for Corporate Learning (SMF CCL) was first formed as a corporate training and development centre to serve the needs of Singapore Manufacturing Federation (SMF) member companies. Through the infusion of best practices and updated skill-sets, SMF CCL takes pride in providing productivity improvement, manufacturing-related, thought-leadership and personal development programmes to empower the organisations and their people to achieve optimum results.

SMF CCL is the appointed International Channel Partner (ICP) with APICS, the Association for Operations Management in Singapore. Besides APICS, SMF CCL's other international partners include American Society of Transportation & Logistics (ASTL) and Six Sigma.US.

Through the many programmes and seminars that SMF CCL has developed, its services have extended beyond the SMF's membership group and reached out to companies and individuals seeking continuous education from all sectors. SMF CCL now actively collaborates with government agencies and established training centres to develop and deliver quality nation-wide programmes for maximum impact in the workforce.

Through SMF CCL's continued and dedicated efforts in responding to global business needs of corporate clients, and the requirements of individual learners, SMF CCL strives to be the preferred corporate training and development centre in Singapore.

Milestones

1. In 2008, SMF CCL was accredited as a Workforce Singapore (WSG) Continuous Education & Training (CET) Centre to offer employment and training services such as job placement and training advisory.
2. In 2010, SMF CCL worked with WSG to launch the WSQ Certified Productivity and Innovation Manager programme which provides a cost-effective and practical way for businesses to embark on the productivity improvement journey.
3. SMF CCL was officially established as a SMF Centre for Corporate Learning Pte Ltd in 2011, in an expansion effort beyond serving the needs of SMF member companies to reach out to companies and individuals seeking continuous education from all sectors.

4. SMF CCL was appointed by National Environment Agency (NEA) for Productivity Improvement Initiative for Cleaning Industry. In 2012, NEA appointed SMF CCL as the training and consulting provider for three sub-sectors namely, Food & Beverage, Public Cleaning and Commercial Cleaning. Till date, about 50 companies benefitted from this initiative.
5. In October 2012, Singapore Corporation of Rehabilitative Enterprises (SCORE) appointed SMF CCL to conduct forklift courses for ex-inmates. More than 200 ex-inmates benefited from these courses; they acquired new skills to integrate back to the society and facilitate their finding of jobs.
6. Since August 2013, SMF CCL has been delivering Enterprise Productivity Improvement Programmes, namely SME QIANG and WSQ Certified Productivity & Innovation Manager, under the Generic Manufacturing Skills Workforce Skills Qualifications (GMS WSQ) system as an appointed Programme Partner by WSG.
7. On 14 August 2014, SMF CCL signed a MOU with Singapore Business Advisors & Consultants Council (SBACC) in our mission to become a one-stop business service provider offering training services.
8. A team from the Thailand Development Research Institute (TDRI) made an observation visit to SMF CCL on 3rd July 2014, as it was recognised as a corporate centre of excellence in Singapore.
9. On 1 October 2015, SMF CCL became a programme manager to run the P-Max place-and-train job placement programme by WSG. On 31st Oct 2015, SMF CCL collaborated with WSG to run the Lean Enterprise Accelerated Programme (LEAP) nationwide to aid productivity improvements in Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs).
